Professional Summary

Multilingual and creative communications professional with a background in digital media, communication, and political science. Proven ability to lead high-performing teams, manage digital campaigns, and solve problems under pressure. From Amazon operations to agency creative production, I bring strong leadership, cross-cultural communication, and a data-informed approach to everything I do. Experience includes leading associates at Amazon Robotics, producing campaigns at a top ad agency, and multilingual outreach for international organizations. Skilled in brand storytelling, strategic planning, digital production, and internal and external communications.
